Curling Commandments

1. Thou shalt have no other game before me, for I am the roaring game which was in the beginning, (even the stone age) is now and ever shall be.
2. Come not upon the ice with the old horse broom. Thou shalt not quicken the pace of a dying rock with a last year's broom.
3. Thou shalt learn thy turns, both the out and the in, for the skip will not hold him guiltless that throweth a wrong turn.
4. Play not a running shot when thou art asked for a guard lest thou exit thine own shot, so sending thy skip in the air; such play getteth his goat and quereth his game, causeth him to swallow his gun, and to revise these open.
5. Thou shalt hearken diligently to the defeated skip when his voice is lifted up in lamentations against punk ice, and thou shalt not turn thy face from him when he blameth his third man. Even so shalt thou secure a listener against the day of thine own defeat.
6. Thou shalt not strew straws from the broom in the path of thine own, or thine adversary's rock, neither shalt thou spit in front of them, causeth them to become punk, for even so punk is an abomination to the Jew, so also is a bag in the sight of a skip.
7. Thou shalt have no discourse with thine adversary while his feet is in the back and his head is on the rock, but if thou wilt thou canst pray for him.
8. Thou shalt not push nor kick a rock into the house from behind steadily for the opposing skip will know of a surety and his anger will be kindled against thee and he will rise up in righteous indignation over thee and smite thee, even with the edge of the broom handle, and thrust thee hence from the sight of the curlers and the days of thy curling will be ended, for this is an unpardonable sin.
9. Thou shalt not covet thy opponent's rock, nor his broom nor his lead player, neither shalt thou fish from him his third man, who is his mainstay and a wall of defense in the day of battle.
10. And when thou cometh to the last end and hast won the game, and playest with great deliberation and thy rock gambeth playfully down the ice, sailing jauntily round the guard and passing the port and worketh thine adversary's rock into the house so that it cometh him the end and the game, thou comest down the ice in fear and anxiety as a good sport and enter and by thy own side with trembling and halting by the groans and murmuring, and findest thou hast peddled the game away, thou shalt receive the professed hand of thine adversary and wing it, even if it be heart thou shouldst wish it were his neck.

Local Bonspiel

Begins Feb. 5th

The annual local bonspiel is slated to begin February 5th and it is to be hoped everyone will make an effort to take part in this event. Times are not wonderful, but the weather is, and this little bit of joy available to the community at large affords an opportunity of joining your neighbors in what is very aptly described as "the curling classic of the season." Previous experience is unnecessary and naturally the more people who take part who have never played the game before, the greater the management is pleased. You can have a real good time for the greater part of a week with little expense and lots of good company.

But what is news? Well its news if an accident happens, if someone is seriously ill, a birth, a marriage, a death, a visitor to another community, an unusual occurrence of any kind or a public improvement—all this is news. But if Jim Blant calls on Sally Glance, that is his own business and has no news value, at present at least. If you have an item of local interest in your community, do not be backward in sending it in to the press.

Look For A Silver Lining

During periods of difficulty and discouragement it is natural that the minds of people turn to and dwell upon those conditions which are the source of their difficulties and the cause of their discouragement. In fact, the tendency is for people to dwell upon these things to the almost complete exclusion of subjects which provide reason for confidence and encouragement.

This, it may be repeated, is quite natural; just as natural, in fact, as it is during periods of rapid development and general prosperity to close one's eyes to all warning signs along the road. In other words, the majority of people are enthusiastic optimists, and quite impatient of words of warning and caution from more thoughtful observers, when things are going well, but are just as confirmed pessimists, and impatient with those who point to favorable signs, when the existing state of things is bad. Very few of us take note of the cloud small as a man's hand coming up on the horizon when the midday sun is shining, and the number is equally small who can see the silver lining to the clouds when the skies are completely overcast.

As a result of this tendency, mankind plunges thoughtlessly ahead, the great majority sweeping all others long for good or ill. During boom periods, when the sky is full of sun and cheer, and when this, or the other great project involving millions of millions of dollars is being advanced, persons who tender the advice that we should give more serious consideration to the project, count the cost, and give a thought to the ultimate inevitable future payment, are termed back-numbers, uptighties, non-progressives, and the like. In other words, they are the people that there is a limit to this discounting of the future, that a pay-as-you-go policy is much wiser, are swept away. The spenders take control.

But when the bubble bursts, when property values and depression take its place, when the clouds are dark and threatening, and the bill is presented for payment, and taxation to meet those bills is imposed in heavier and heavier doses, then those who were most outspoken in favor of incurring the bills and most contemptuous of those who urged caution, are the first to complain of short-sightedness, and the like, and the spenders upon whom they proceed to lay responsibility for all their troubles. On the other hand, during the prosperous periods most people take full credit to themselves for their own advancement, their increased prosperity, and the general improvement of their business and their community, and are inclined to give little or no credit to anybody else.

After all, these are common traits in our human make-up. It is well, however, to occasionally take a good, square look at ourselves, to weigh ourselves in the scales, to be absolutely honest in an impartial sizing-up of ourselves, to consider our own past views and actions and their effect upon present day conditions. Furthermore, in this present period of discouragement, it is well to overcome our natural tendency to see everything through bias spectacles, and to take a look at the silver lining to the clouds.

Notwithstanding all our economic problems, Canada is free from some of the worst of those which afflict the people of other nations. For example, what community in the whole length and breadth of Canada has been shocked and outraged by a lynching in its midst, such as is more or less a commonplace occurrence in the United States? How many kidnappings have occurred in Canada even during these times which unquestionably are an incentive to law-breaking and violence, although kidnappings are daily happenings across the line? And why is it such a marked difference between the law prevailing on one side of the line and the other?

The answer is to be found in Canada's far superior judicial system. Resulting as it has in absolute confidence that even-handed justice will be administered, thus rendering the invoking of lynch-law unnecessary on the one hand, and proving a deterrent to kidnappers, murderers, and gangster activities. The tradition of respect for law and order in Canada is a great national asset, bringing comfort and security to all our people, and providing a sure guarantee against mob law and gangster rule in this Dominion. It is a strong foundation upon which Canada rests and will build throughout the future.

More of the silver lining is seen in the absence of strikes and riots and picketings in this Dominion as compared with many other lands. There has been an occasional momentary strike here or there, and a few times in the past with the officers of the law, an isolated case or two of picketings, but there have been no killings, and generally speaking, peace and order have prevailed throughout the period of the depression. Canada's legislation dealing with industrial disputes has been effective even under the strain and stress of the present economic upheaval because that legislation is fair to all, humane in its principles and effective in its operation and administration in providing justice for all. In this respect, Canada presents a picture that is most gratifying when placed in contrast to most countries.

In Canada, too, our political system and institutions have stood the test. Revolutions have taken place in other lands, in which lives have been lost, property destroyed, liberties taken away, dictatorships established. In Canada, our people have been making forward through the orderly processes of democratic representative government. There has been no revolution, nor will there be. Confidence has been maintained in our existing form of government, and it is proving flexible enough to the people's will to enable them to achieve such reforms as they desire.

Many other conditions might be cited, and need to appear to readers of this article, but those mentioned are given as an incentive to people to try and overcome their natural tendency to look constantly on the dark side of things in these days, and for a change, contemplate and study those that are not only brighter but contain promise of still brighter, better things ahead.

Household Drudgery
The Bane of a Woman's Life

Nature intended women to be strong and healthy instead of weak and sickly, but how can a woman have good health when she has to go through the household drudgery without any relaxation. Is it any wonder she becomes nervous and irritable, has hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sinking and smothering sensations, and can't sleep at night?

Women who are weak and run down will find in Milburn's Health Nerve Pills a remedy to strengthen the system and bring back the much desired health.

Woman Botanist Has Made Hazardous Trip

Tale Of Heric Journey Brought Back From Alaska

From out of the fastnesses of Canada's frozen north emerged a tale of a woman's hazardous journey along 350 miles of the most dangerous part of the Arctic coast.

Mrs. Isobel W. Hutchison, young Scotswoman, completed the journey, braving hardship, hunger and cold, and arriving at her destination, Alaska, just before Christmas. Word of her exploit was brought to Fort McMurray by Pilot J. H. Bythell, Canadian Airways, returned from several months in the north.

The Scotswoman made the trip by dog team, Pilot Bythell said, when winter overtook her as she was making her way to Eskimo schooners around Point Barrow. What she learned she took to sticks.

It had been Mrs. Hutchison's intention to make connections with the Arctic boat, Captain, near Point Barrow, but Capt. Peterson was unable to take her to her desired destination, Herschel Island. She thereupon went on to Barrow, along the route to help her on her way.

Incidentally, on this time Mrs. Hutchison was accompanied by visiting and bringing several souvenirs from the desolate Hudson Bay Company's boat Baychino, which was the still about 30 miles off.

Later, and after a succession of setbacks, she was finally frozen in the ice of the Arctic coast. This distance with severe hardship and difficulty she covered with borrowed dog teams, arriving at Alaska.

Apparently, stated Pilot Bythell, she was still the worse for this tremendous journey, which if only on account of the excessive cold in winter, would have daunted the most hardened of northern travelers.

Mrs. Hutchison is collecting rare and plant specimens for the Royal Gardens at Kew, England, and for the same purpose spent many months in Greenland a year ago. She is slight in build, Mr. Bythell continued, and her appearance certainly belies the staunch heart and dogged determination which must "accompany one who would so compete with the hardy Eskimo in his own terrain.

Empire Mail Service

Studying Routes Between United Kingdom and Canada

The aeronautical correspondent of the London Morning Post declares a cabinet committee was considering the best route for the proposed service of Empire air communication expansion and that it was studying the routes between the United Kingdom and Canada and the United Kingdom and Australia.

The expansion, the correspondent said, would include faster air mail services and a modified service system. The committee sought, he added, to develop an airmail service comparable with that in the United States.

A Robot Conveyor

London School of Economics Has Installed Remarkable Machine

A remarkable robot conveyor, which can send 1,200 books in 10 to 240 different places, has been installed in a library at the London School of Economics. "We have installed," said Mr. Headley, the librarian, "a book conveyor which is a veritable robot. You fill in an application form, and by pressing a button these automatic devices deliver a few seconds afterwards any book you desire in any room you like and from any department. All departments of the library are served by this machine. It is the only one of its kind in the world."

A Second Houdini

English Vicar Stilled In Freeing Himself From Manacles

The Vicar of Eton, Northamptonshire, England, Rev. L. A. Ewart, is something of a second Houdini and, if he has not adopted the church as a career, might have won fame by his remarkable skill in escaping from leg-irons or handcuffs in the presence of friends and acquaintances.

At a British Legion dinner at the neighboring village of Irchester he astonished the company by a masterly display of handcuff manipulation. His hands were manacled behind his back, but in a few minutes the vicar was free, both locks having been snapped.

Mr. Ewart has been known to escape from 25 locks in 10 minutes. He has freed himself from American leg-irons, Russian fetters and German handcuffs.

On one occasion a police inspector (off duty) at a gathering, fastened his handcuffs on Mr. Ewart, but had no key to release the vicar if he failed to escape. In a few moments the vicar was free. Then the police inspector was handcuffed. Smilingly, however, he declined to show his method of escape and the inspector had to return to the police station to get the handcuffs removed.

White Collar Women

Most Unemployed Office Girls Willing To Do Any Work

The white collar women are giving Los Angeles a lot of worry, says W. L. Clark in Border City Star. There are some 14,000 of these girls out of work and the civic authorities are at their wits' end to know what to do about them. The white collar girls are the stenographers, bookkeepers, secretaries, receptionists and nurses for doctors and dentists, comptometer operators and other office machine operators, saleswomen, bank girls, and others.

They call them white collar girls because they are the ones who work by the mile with the white collar men in offices and stores. With 14,000 trained women and girls seeking work and finding none, Los Angeles is faced with a serious quandary.

Nor is the question unique in California. Every city in Canada has the same problem to solve. White collar women are anxious to work, but some of them cannot find any jobs. In fact some of them are so glad to be able to work for anything at all.

Conditions Are Improving

Evidence Of Uptrend Of Business Shown By Increase In Sales Of Salada Tea

"An indication that conditions are improving and that business is on the upturn is shown by the fact that the Salada Tea Co. sold over 245,000 more tea in Western Canada in 1932 than in 1931.

This is especially significant since Salada is a quality tea.

Feeding Methods For Turkeys

Sanitation should be practiced in all feeding methods with turkeys.

Held Exporting Nation

Canada Fills This Position During First 10 Months Of 1932

Canada held her position as the world's fifth exporting nation during the first 10 months of 1932, but the record at the end of the year may place her as the second on the list, according to figures compiled by the Dominion bureau of statistics from League of Nations sources.

The United States continued to hold first place by a narrow margin over the United Kingdom, while Germany occupied third place; France, fourth; Japan, sixth. The relative places are computed on values of exports in gold dollars.

Marvels of the Human Eye

By F. M. CROWE, Optometrist-Optician, Calgary

NO. 7—PRESBYOPIA OR "OLD-AGE SIGHT"

Although forty years of age or of course not considered old, yet because Presbyopia usually insinuates itself at about that age, it is commonly known to us as "Old-age sight."

How often we hear people say "my sight is just as good as it ever was except for reading as near as I can get." This is a common expression and this condition is common to most men and women. It is a condition which causes a much inconvenience after middle life.

We have fully explained that in order to have a clear image of a distant object focused on the retina, the length of the eyeball and the curvature of the Cornea and Lens must be properly related. The first two may be considered as elastic and to length and curvature respectively but fortunately the Lens is elastic and it is this elastic power or "Accommodation" which enables us to focus objects near at hand. Accommodation is most powerful around twelve years of age and then gradually diminishes till there is none left at age sixty-five or seventy.

For sustained close work a certain amount is absolutely necessary and this the average person of forty-five years of age and then gradually diminishes till there is none left at age sixty-five or seventy.

Ruling Is Strict

Producers Require Permit To Pack Grade A Eggs

Grade A of Canadian eggs is a super-grade and the packing of this grade may be done only by producers authorized by permit by the Department of Agriculture.

Application by producers desiring to pack this grade should be made to the Poultry Services, Dominion Egg Stock Exchange, Ottawa. Grade A, it is explained, was included in the recent revisions to the Canadian Standard egg grades for two reasons:—

First, to provide a place for eggs which, because of production conditions and speed of marketing, merit some recognition over the top commercial grade eggs.

Secondly, to establish a grade which would serve as an ideal towards which producers would be encouraged to work.

Grade A egg eggs are not a product intended for inter-provincial trading or long shipment. They are produced only under careful production conditions and are marketed without delay.

Had Adventurous Life

Capt. Carey, Former Commander of C.P.E. Fleet, Crossed Atlantic 600 Times

Word was received at Montreal of the arrival at Valparaiso of Captain Francis Carey, 53, former commander of the Canadian Pacific Fleet, who retired in 1914.

Captain Carey had an adventurous life in his many years on the sea. He crossed the Atlantic 600 times, once towed a heavy passenger boat two miles in December snow, transported a whole harem, and was the first commander of the Empire of Ireland in 1896.

The aged captain once successfully commanded all the "lake" boats on the Beaver line and was also with the Elder Dempster line and was the former captain of the Empire of Ireland in 1896.
